

FORMER MAYSVILLE WOMAN ADDRESSES WIVES OF STRIKERS

Sallie Gates, Former Well Known Local Character, Addresses Strikers Wives at Cincinnati Labor Temple.

The Cincinnati Post carries the following interesting story of a former Maysville girl, who when here was quite a character:

Railway shop strikers took their wives and children to a meeting in Labor Temple on Walnut street Wednesday.

It was their way of telling the world what the strike is all about.

Sallie Gates made a speech. She works in a tobacco factory.

"Smile!" said Sallie Gates to the wives of the strikers. "When your husband comes home in the evening meet him with a smile. Don't discourage him with a sad face. A smile tells him you are with him in this strike. A sad face breaks his spirit."

"You must strike with him. How is he going to win this fight if you don't stand by him?"

"Smile! Smile! Smile!"

She had them practice smiling.

"No forced smiles," Sallie Gates continued. "Real smiles. You can't fool a husband with a forced smile."

Despondent wives, she said, help break strikes.

"And put him on the back when he leaves in the morning for picket duty. He is a soldier in a glorious cause. And when he stands guard on the picket line he is doing duty for you and your babies and your home."

"See that he goes to this duty with your blessing. See to it that he goes to it promptly, like a loyal soldier."

Sallie Gates of the tobacco factory left them smiling. And after her Mrs. Alma Schott, the wife of a striker, spoke.

BAND MEMBERS HAVING TIME OF THEIR LIVES

Mt. Sterling People 'Struck On' Our Band and the Kiddies Own Town—Fair is Big Success.

Word from Colonel J. Barbour Russell, manager of the Cardinal Band, which is playing this week for the Montgomery County Fair at Mt. Sterling, by long distance telephone Friday morning is to the effect that everything is moving off quite satisfactory and the kiddies are having the time of their lives.

The band appears to have made a great hit with the people of Mt. Sterling who are treating the members royally and the band can get anything in the town for the asking.

The first two days of the fair were the best two first days the fair ever had in its history, says Mr. Russell, and indications that the whole meeting will break all previous records, despite the fact that the carnival attractions could not arrive because of railroad troubles.

Every member of the band is in perfect health, the Colonel reports.

MAYOR ASKS THAT COUNCIL INVESTIGATE TWO POLICEMEN

Chief Executive Says Facts He Has Obtained Do Not Warrant Suspension But Leaves Council Free to Act—Garage Permit Granted.

The meeting of City Council held Thursday evening was a very short one and little business of importance was transacted.

Several building permits were granted and again the City Board of Education's request for a permit to erect a garage in the rear of the teachers' building at the High School building was presented. This permit was granted by a vote of 11 to 1. Dr. J. A. Dodson casting the only negative vote after a speech in which he paid his compliments to the press for their interest and the publicity given Council's refusal to grant the permit at two previous meetings.

Mayor J. H. Samuel then read a communication to Council on the much-discussed alleged failure to perform duty by Police Sergeant Carey. This communication, upon which Council failed to take any sort of action aside from receiving it, is as follows:

Maysville, Kentucky, July 20, 1922.
To the Common Council,
Maysville, Kentucky.

Gentlemen:—
On Tuesday night, July 11th, 1922, Officer Simpson attempted to arrest Mr. Ben Middleman and seemingly was governed by the idea that he needed assistance. Street rumors, varied in character and type, began to spread to the effect that Officer Carey after numerous notifications, failed to respond and consequently committed an infraction of one of his duties as Night Sergeant. On Friday, July 14th, of the same week Chairman Brady of the Police Committee requested that his committee be called on that night for the sole purpose of investigating the various rumors relative to the case. Officially I had no data upon which to base any kind of character of opinion as to the merits of the case, therefore I took this method of obtaining the facts, if any, and acceded to his request. Six or more witnesses testified. Sergeant Carey gave his testimony and also what he had believed to be his duty as Night Sergeant. Chief Mackey gave a detailed statement of what he, as Chief of Police, had on previous occasions instructed the Sergeant to do. After all this had been gone over the Committee almost to a man, shook hands—upon their own initiative—with Sergeant Carey, and the committee stood adjourned. After all of the testimony was received and after these statements as to the duties of the night Sergeant were given by Carey and Chief Mackey, not a single word of censure was uttered looking to the suspension of this officer; on the contrary, their mental attitude was agreeably manifested by their hearty handshakes.

Section 3305 of the Kentucky Statute, says in part that "The Mayor shall have the power to suspend any city officer, except Councilmen, for misconduct in office or neglect of duty, reporting action, with his reasons therefor, in writing at the next regular meeting of the Common Council, by whom final action is taken."

I met with the committee at the time of the investigation above referred to, and governed by the facts presented before the entire Committee, I have not felt justified in suspending the officer. At no time has it been my desire or intention to "pass the buck" to the Police Committee as such; surely I was fully aware that it was not the function or duty of any committee to suspend any officer. Since the committee adjourned some more street rumors have come to me from a source that I look upon with confidence, to the effect that certain members of the Police Committee have made the impression upon some citizens that Officer Carey's suspension was up to me—evidently implying and trying to impress their hearers with the idea that they would approve of his suspension. This questionable attitude of some members of the Police Committee assumed, however, after its adjournment, is my sole reason for presenting this communication.

In the event Council regards this affair of sufficient importance to reopen the case, then, it follows that any officer connected with it should come within the purview of your investigation, therefore, I suggest and request that an investigation be made of both Carey's and Simpson's conduct on the night of this trouble. I make this suggestion, in order that Simpson and Carey may be treated alike, in case it may be your intention to make further investigation.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. SAMUEL, Mayor.

Mrs. R. M. Harrison left Thursday for Mt. Sterling to spend a week with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edith Cord.

CINCINNATI PLANNING ROYAL TIME FOR MANCHESTER BAND

More Than Half the Funds Necessary for Manchester Band Entertainment Now Raised By "Cinci."

The Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune says: More than half of the $600 needed for entertaining the Manchester Band here, July 31, has been raised. Mrs. Frank S. Krug, treasurer of the committee in charge announced yesterday. Many subscriptions and letters of encouragement have been received by members of the committee. The required amount will include transportation for members of the band here and back again to Manchester and entertaining them while they are in the city.

The chief figure of attention at the reception will be Wilbur Morgan, whose back was injured when the deck of the Island Queen, a Coney Island river steamer, crashed and injured many other persons during the river trip of President Harding to Point Pleasant, Ohio, for the Grant centennial. Wilbur has spent the time since then in a cast at Christ Hospital.

The fifty-five boys and girls who compose the band will be received at the Central Union Station early on the morning of July 31. They will march to Fountain square, where they will give the first of several concerts that day. Later buses provided by the Board of Education will take them to the zoo, where they will spend the morning and eat lunch. In the afternoon they will give their third concert at Chester Park, and after dinner return to Manchester.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Richmond, Va., July 20, 1922.

To the Clerks and Affiliated Employees Of The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company:

In my circular to the clerks and affiliated employees of The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, published in various papers on July 19th, 1922, I stated that in the event the clerks do strike, it will be necessary, of course, under the law, and to carry out its duty to public, for the company to continue to operate the property, for which the necessary complement of clerks will be required. Believing that the minority of our clerks and affiliated employees who went out on strike at ten a. m. today were misled and feeling that upon reflection they will be desirous of returning to the service, I am giving them the following notice:

They will be allowed to return to the service with seniority rights unimpaired if they do so before ten o'clock Saturday, July 22nd. If they do not do so by this time, their places will be filled permanently. The company assures every employee who remains with it, those who resume work and every new employee, that he or she will be protected in the performance of their duties and also will be protected in the retention of their position.

President.

FARM POPULATION OF UNITED STATES IS NOW ANNOUNCED
Mississippi Is Reported as the Greatest Farming State in Union As to Per Cent. of Total Population Engaged in That Work.

Washington, D. C. — The Department of Commerce announces that, according to the Fourteenth Decennial Census, the farm population of the United States on January 1, 1920, was 31,611,269, or 29.9 per cent. of the total population.

total population of the country on that date. Of this number, 31,358, 40 were enumerated in rural territory and 255,629 on farms located within the limits of cities and other incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. It may be noted in this connection that the census definition of a farm extends somewhat beyond the ordinary meaning of the term in that it includes any fruit or market garden, poultry yard, dairy, or apiary which either yielded $250 worth of products in 1919 or required for its operation the continuous services of at least one person during the year. The farm population comprises both farm operators and farm laborers and their families, including farm laborers and their families not actually living on farms but, not living in incorporated places.

Since the rural population as defined in the census includes incorporated cities, villages, etc., having fewer than 2,500 inhabitants, unincorporated hamlets, mining regions, and other areas not devoted to agriculture, it is not surprising to find that only 61 per cent. of the total rural population as thus defined is farm population, and that while nearly one-half of the inhabitants of the United States are rural residents, only about three-tenths are living on farms.

The proportion which the farm population formed of the total in the individual states ranged from 71 per cent. in Mississippi to 2.5 per cent. in Rhode Island. In 11 states: Mississippi, Arkansas, South Carolina, North Dakota, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, South Dakota, Tennessee, Kentucky and Oklahoma—the population living on farms constituted more than half the total. On the other hand, in 15 states: Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, New Hampshire, Maryland, Ohio, Nevada, Washington, Delaware and Michigan, the farm population formed less than one-fourth of the total. In general, the smallest proportions of farm population are found in the northeastern states, that is, the states lying north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers and east of the Mississippi and in the Pacific coast states.

The percentage which the farm population formed of the entire rural population of the several states in 1920 also shows a wide range, from 20.1 in New Jersey to 81.8 in Mississippi. In 16 states—New Jersey, Connecticut, Nevada, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maine, Arizona, West Virginia, New York, California, Florida, Washington Maryland, and Wyoming—the farm population constituted less than half the total rural population.

In actual numbers, the largest farm population for any state, 2,277,773, was reported for Texas. The smallest, 15,136, is shown for Rhode Island, in which state the proportion which the farm population formed of the total, 2.5 per cent., is also the smallest shown for any state. In 14 states—Texas, Georgia, North Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas, Ohio, Illinois, South Carolina, Virginia, and Oklahoma—the farm population in 1920

ICEING MILK IN WAGONS DURING SUMMER SAVES MONEY.

Lexington, Ky. — During the hot summer months of the last 20 years, the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station has found that iceing milk in its delivery wagons has been helpful in retaining customers and saving money that would be lost otherwise through the souring of milk, according to J. W. Nutter, superintendent of the station dairy farm. A number of dairymen annually lose many customers and considerable money by failing to observe this practice, he said. "The total time spent in delivering milk on the average retail route varies from three to eight hours. Milk that is on the road without ice for this length of time in the air temperatures that will prevail from now on cannot be expected to keep in good condition. Even where deliveries are made during the cool early morning hours, the temperature of uniced milk will rise considerably before it reaches the customer, in view of the fact that after milk has been on the driver's wagon for three or four hours it often stands on the doorstep for an additional two hours or more.

"The quantity of ice required for a load of milk costs only a few cents while a single bottle of sour milk not only will result in loss of the milk and usually a special delivery but also may cause the loss of one or more customers. Then too, if a milk inspector should take a sample from a bottle of milk that has been on uniced on the wagon, his report will be unfavorable. "When the ordinary open-bottom cases the used and when ice is costly, the tow row of cases only need be iced as the cold air will circulate through the cases below. While this will tend to make the floor of the wagon sloppy, it will not be a serious handicap as the floor can be flushed out each day on the return from the route. A few holes bored in the floor of the wagon will allow the melted ice to run through and be a convenience when the floor is washed. These holes can be plugged in the winter time."

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Convictive Proof of Merit To Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice-old and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It is from a Maysville resident: Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, says: "My back became weak and lame and ached across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was dizzy and had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Wood & Son's Drug Store and they relieved me of the attack." (Statement given November 16th, 1916.)

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday added: "My kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew my former statement."

The Cards were forced to the limit in Thursday's game and found Harrison, the visiting hurler, a hard nut to crack, bunting two of their four bingles in the third frame both going for two bags coupled with a walk resulted in a couple of markers. Shaw was nicked for eleven hits but managed to keep them well scattered and air-tight support kept his head above water when the bases became too populated.

Twice in the first two innings Slayback and Kresser pivoted lightning double plays that checked the enemy while quick relaying of the outfielders cut down several runners on the home stretch. Kresser's return of Cole's grounded to get Wilbers at the plate was of sensational order and probably saved the day for once the visitors had tied the score chances to win out would have been feeble for the Cards grabbed but one hit off Harrison in the last five innings.

Two of the Card's four hits both two baggers came in the third coupled with a pass to Fortner, first man up, resulted in two runs and the game. Harding sacrificed Fortner to second. Slayback drove one over first base for two bases, Fortner scoring. Class died Cole to Potts, Scottie taking third. Connolly drew a pass and Kresser hit to right for two bases scoring Slayback, Connolly being thrown out at the plate, Harrington to Monk. From then on as well as the first two innings the Cards were never allowed past second base.

The Essex were never able to gather enough hits in a single inning to allow them to ramble homeward it seemed to be fixed rule with them not to score on less than three hits. Three times in the first, sixth and eighth respectively they nicked Shaw for a pair of bingles but refused to cross. Finally in the ninth the specified number of three hits resulted in one run and almost heart failure to the fans.

In the ninth Wilbers collected his third single, Harrington putting one in the same place in center and Potts moved both runners up with a sacrifice. Cole bounced to Kresser and Wilbers died at the plate on a pretty play by Kresser. Lackey hitting for Ritter, pinched a single over second. Harrington scoring, Cole going to second. Leach batted for Graefier and popped to Class for the end and much relief.

Notes.

Monk got revenge on the local fans

for their razzing with a perfect record for the day at bat. Four hits in four trips in quite a feat and all were clean drives except his last, a long two bagger, that Fortner barely reached after a long run and that half the outfielders of the league would never have reached to knock down.

Quite a few old faces were in the visitor's lineup. Wilbers one time a

Maysville player in the Ohio State showed lots of improvement. Bill

Kuhlman and Specks Meadows of the Oakleys were among those present as allies Cole and Harrington respectively.

Bill looked sweet at the hot corner

but when you consider the length of time he has been picking 'em up and throwing at first base, he should be.

However he was not able to do much with Shaw, failing to deliver twice with men on.

The largest crowds of the season are expected at the Paris series Saturday and Sunday when the tie for first place will likely be broken between the Cards and Mammoth. Elnemann and Bosken are carded to face Wilks

and Miner in the series.
